

Home page

The Center for Philology and Digitality "Kallimachos" (ZPD) as the central scientific institution of the University of Würzburg creates a link between the humanities, computer science and the digital humanities. Its purpose is the best possible support and further development of humanities research in the digital age. This is reflected in the professors Ulrich Konrad (musicology), Dag Nikolaus Hasse (philosophy), Andreas Hotho (computer science), Fotis Jannidis (computer philology and modern German literature) and Frank Puppe (computer science) in the board of directors.

In addition, the ZPD serves as the sponsor of the BMBF-funded project Callimachus. It is also the first building block of a new humanities center that is to be built on the university's North Campus.

the groundbreaking for the new oneresearch building of the center took place on April 23, 2020.

Provisional address:

University of Würzburg
Chair for Artificial Intelligence
Am Hubland
97074 Würzburg

✉ zpd@uni-wuerzburg.de

Contact Person: dr Christian Reul

Nov 19

Lecture at the second Culture Community Plenary of NFDI4Culture
Fri, November 19, 2021, 10:00 a.m

Nov 02

Lecture, workshop and poster for DHd2022 accepted
Tue, 02.11.2021, 12:00 p.m

Nov 01

ZPD supports BMBF project ACAWAI-CS
Mon, November 1st, 2021, 12:00 p.m

Sep 06

Best Paper Award at HIP'21
Mon, September 6th, 2021, 6:00 p.m

June 18

DFG project Narragonia Latina approved

Fri, June 18, 2021, 12:00 p.m